About Me

I am a passionate and creative Fashion Styling & Creative Direction student with a strong eye for aesthetics and storytelling. I love bringing concepts to life through editorial projects, trend research, and visual direction. My experience in styling, combined with my interest in luxury retail, allows me to understand both the artistic and commercial sides of fashion.

I am always eager to explore new ideas, collaborate with inspiring creatives, and create compelling visual narratives. With a keen attention to detail and a strong sense of style, I aim to contribute my skills to both the editorial and retail fashion industries, blending creativity with a hands-on approach.
